Part I Public Outreach Plan

This plan was written early in the outreach processes that took place for Local Solutions for the Strafford Region. The following sections include: an overview of Strafford Regional Planning Commission as an Organization; the staff involved with the project at the beginning of the project (staff members have changed in the three year project period); an overview of master planning efforts, an overview of the overall project goals, an introduction to the Local Solutions advisory team, and the plan for outreach including some strategies that were already in place.

Strafford Regional Planning Commission

Background

Strafford Regional Planning Commission's fundamental mission is to plan and act to achieve sustainable development and improve the quality of life. Sustainable development is balanced economic progress with environmental protection and community well-being. The Commission has been active in regional planning for over 40 years as one of the nine Regional Planning Commissions established by the New Hampshire legislature. Our region is composed of eighteen communities including all thirteen municipalities in Strafford County, three communities in Rockingham County, and two communities in Carroll County. Operating as a political subdivision of the State, Strafford Regional Planning serves an advisory role to local governments and organizations.

Strafford Regional Planning Commission works to improve the region by coordinating local planning, promoting orderly growth and efficient land use and transportation systems, and addressing issues of regional concern.

Our professional planning staff assists in land use, transportation, environmental planning, economic development, hazard mitigation planning, support services, and project management.

Regional Master Planning

In addition to providing assistance to local communities, Regional Planning Commissions must "prepare a coordinated plan for the development of a region, taking into account present and future needs with a view toward facilitating the most appropriate use of land... the facilitation of transportation and communication... the proper and economic location of public utilities and services; the development of adequate recreational areas; the promotion of good civic design; and the wise and efficient expenditure of public funds." (RSA 36:45) Regional master plans are advisory documents aimed at coordinating the actions of communities and assisting with the writing of municipal master plans. The RSA's state: "A regional planning commission's powers shall be advisory, and shall generally pertain to the development of the region within its jurisdiction as a whole. Nothing in this subdivision shall be deemed to limit any of the powers, duties or obligations of planning boards in individual municipalities." (RSA 36:47)

Regional Plan Content

Regional comprehensive plans may use either the framework of the state development plan in RSA 9:A, or that of a local master plan as provided in RSA 674:2. Local master plans use the following content outline:

Overall vision

- Land use
- Transportation
- Community Facilities
- Economic Development
- Natural Resources
- Natural Hazards
- Recreation
- Utility and Public Service
- Cultural and Historic Resources
- Regional Concerns
- Neighborhood Plan
- Community Design
- Housing
- Implementation
- Energy

During the Regional Master Planning Process, each Regional Planning Commission must "make a good faith effort to inform and respond to their local communities", as stated in RSA 36:47,IV.

Before adoption by the Strafford Regional Planning Commission, draft regional plans are distributed to each library, planning board, and board of selectmen/aldermen/city council in each of the communities within the region. All comments received prior to publication of a final draft will be considered by the Regional Planning Commission. Following the creation of a final draft, Regional Planning Commissions must hold a public hearing that is public noticed at least 30 days prior. Only after a public hearing, may the plan be officially adopted by the Strafford Regional Planning Commission. If adopted, the Regional Master Plan must then be filed with each planning board in the region in accordance with RSAs 36:47,III and 36:50.

Granite State Future: Local Solutions for the Strafford Region Purpose

Granite State Future is a statewide project among all of the Regional Planning Commissions coordinated by the Nashua Regional Planning Commission, and funded through a grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development

The objectives of this project are to:

- Protect New Hampshire's unique beauty and character.
- Identify local assets that are important to the lasting prosperity of our communities, regions and State.
- Capitalize on and incorporate shared values and opportunities included in existing plans and research.
- Plan for public infrastructure investment through an open and transparent process.
- Direct capital investments toward locally identified needs

New Hampshire's Livability Principles

Granite State Future: Local Solutions for the Strafford Region will reflect the New Hampshire Livability Principles, a set of concepts which will provide a common framework for all nine Regional Plans and are supported by RSA 9-B. The Livability Principles encompass:

Traditional Settlement Patterns & Development Design – maintain the traditional New Hampshire landscape intact by focusing development in town centers and village areas, while leaving open and rural areas for agriculture, recreation, and other suitable uses.

Housing Choices – ensure that everyone, no matter what their income level, has convenient and affordable housing choices. This includes the availability of a variety of housing options and ownership types that appeal to people at any stage of life, and is convenient to where they work, shop, and play.

Transportation Choices – provide a number of options that help people safely and efficiently get where they need to go, whether it is by walking, biking, public transportation, carpooling, or taking a train or plane. Transportation networks should make it easy to get from one place to another, and should also allow the efficient movement of goods to support the economy (commercial freight, rail, marine, and air transport).

Natural Resource Functions & Quality – make sure that we protect New Hampshire's beautiful natural landscape, which is home to all of us as well as a wide range of plant and wildlife species. This includes protecting and improving the water we drink, the air we breathe, the forests we love, and the farmland that sustains us.

Community and Economic Vitality – continue to make New Hampshire a great place in which to do business, raise a family, recreate, visit, and retire. Our neighborhoods and communities offer opportunities for an excellent education, good health, cultural happenings, and social connections.

Climate Change and Energy Efficiency – In recent decades, New Hampshire has seen an increase in extreme storms, flooding, and warmer weather throughout the year. Coupled with this, are steadily rising fuel and energy prices. To adapt to these changes, communities should focus on constructing homes and buildings that use less energy and are more efficient. Landscaping and stormwater management should be designed to keep as much rainwater and snowmelt onsite to prevent flooding elsewhere. Where possible and appropriate, renewable energy generation should be encouraged to reduce dependence on outside sources of energy.

Commitment to Our Communities

Years One and Two of the Public Outreach Plan concentrate on engaging citizens and leaders in a range of ways, first in broad visioning, and then within specific areas of local interest. Through Year Two, each region will conduct a comprehensive regional needs assessment in order to set goals and priorities, and will develop the component elements of a Regional Plan. Though priorities and goals will be different in each region of the state, all the Plans are expected to include appendices addressing Housing, Transportation, Water Infrastructure (Utility and Public Service), Environment (Natural Resources and Recreation), Economic Development, Climate Change Impacts and Hazard Mitigation, and Energy Efficiency and Green Building. In Year Three, each region will review and complete its Plan for local endorsement, and begin implementation strategies on some of the identified priorities. At the state level, the nine Plans will be consolidated into a state-wide snapshot, and analyzed for shared opportunities.

Outreach and Engagement Advisory Team

The Regional Advisory Committee is a subcommittee of the Regional Planning Commission. The Regional Advisory Committee was created in order to provide guidance to the staff of the Commission on the Regional Plan project that will take place between Spring of 2012 and 2015. The Regional Advisory Committee will participate in and promote outreach for the initiative within the region. They will assist staff with review of data and public input and advise the staff on the overall concept and goals of the initiative. The Committee will review and amend templates from statewide Advisory Committees to meet any unique regional context, review local information, and track Regional Plan progress. The Regional Advisory Committee may from time to time form subcommittees of local and regional experts and volunteers, to work on specific tasks and projects if and when needed. After the Regional Plan is completed the Regional Advisory Team will present it to the Strafford Regional Planning Commission for their adoption. Over the coming months, Commission staff will keep the Regional Advisory Committee apprised of the many aspects of the Regional Plan. Additionally, Regional Advisory Committee members will participate in an outreach training workshop that will be held in the summer of 2012.

Samuel Reid Advisory Team Member

Why the Strafford Region?

I chose to live here because of the natural beauty of the area and the proximity of the Seacoast to Boston, Portland and the lakes and mountains of northern New England. I also love the friendliness of the people in this area.

Why is volunteerism so important?

Volunteerism is important as we cannot rely on others to advance our vision of what is right. While I think we are fortunate to have volunteers working on a myriad of worthwhile causes, there is always a need for my hands and brains and perspectives. Volunteering is important to create a meaningful sense of community and a link with other folks in the region. It is very rewarding.

Why do you think regional planning is important/ why were you interested in being involved on the Strafford Regional Advisory Team?

I believe regional planning is important in that it avoids unnecessary duplication of services. Many New England cities and towns seem to think they are an island onto themselves. That is myopic. Each of us can learn from each other. Roads and transportation systems head in all directions. It is absurd to not employ the impressive expertise from the Planning Commission staff. I became interested in the Advisory Team to learn more about how our region is part of the State plan and how we are different from other areas of the State.

How do you hope people will use the regional master plan?

I hope that the data compiled by staff is useful in setting priorities for the future in all of the areas covered by the plan. There is a very impressive amount of information that can be drawn upon to make educated decisions about future challenges.

John Scruton Advisory Team Member Why the Strafford Region?

I live here because it is home. My children and grandchildren, mother, sister and other family members all live close. I like the open fields and forests, while at the same time being close to cultural and historical places. There is a good selection of restaurants in the area. It is a short trip by mass transit to Boston and world class museums and historical places.

Why is volunteerism so important?

There is a great need for more people to be involved in local government. There are many factors that have caused volunteers to become scarce, including long commute times, second jobs, youth sports activities, the Internet, changes in family structure, home entertainment systems, etc. Sadly when people do not volunteer, their opinions are not heard. Sometimes the opinions of only a few are heard, with the apathetic being disenfranchised. We need much broader participation in the decisions that are being made for the benefit of all.

Why do you think regional planning is important/ why were you interested in being involved on the Strafford Regional Advisory Team?

I am convinced we need regional cooperation and solutions to solve our problems. The roads, rivers, air, and jobs, are all regional. No community can close itself off from the need of connecting with others. That is why I have supported Strafford Regional Planning Commission and volunteered to work on the Regional Advisory Team.

How do you hope people will use the regional master plan?

I hope this will enable people to see how complex and interrelated the towns and cities are. Regional solutions require knowing what the issues are first. A second benefit is being able to find examples of how others have addressed the issue.

Christine Soutter Advisory Team Member

Why the Strafford Region?

We love New Hampshire for its diversity of seasons, topography, activities and education. Stafford County is a great area as it is close to both the mountains and the ocean which isn't something most areas of the United States can boast. It also has great jobs and good people.

Why is volunteerism so important?

Volunteerism is absolutely critical to the health and prosperity of our region and our State. It is what makes the difference between a good place to live and a great place to live. We do have a lot of individuals who care greatly about the region and who give of their time, talent and treasure to a variety of charitable causes. The State, however, is not particularly generous with their "treasure" and could use some education about the impact on the nonprofit community and how their financial support can really make a difference in not just the lives of those less fortunate but their own lives through community events, recreation and more.

Why do you think regional planning is important/ why were you interested in being involved on the Strafford Regional Advisory Team?

NH is a small state made up of small cities and towns. If we are not thinking regionally then we are not thinking clearly. Everything we do affects our surrounding communities. We have strength in numbers and the more we approach decisions with a regional view the better off all of our communities will be.

Committees/Volunteer Efforts:

How do you hope people will use the regional master plan?

I hope that they realize the amount of time and care that went into the master plan which enables them to make informed decisions without putting the same time into the work needed to come up with the information provided in the plan. I hope they refer to the plan as they create their own set of priorities and development strategy.

Victoria Parmele Advisory Team Member

Why the Strafford Region?

I eventually made my way back east [from Washington state], and after living in Newburyport, MA, I moved to Exeter, and then to Northwood just before entering graduate school at UNH. I was drawn to Northwood's rural character and its proximity to the Seacoast area.

Why is volunteerism so important?

I learned over time how essential volunteerism is to community life in NH. There are many reasons for this, and one is that while the needs are there, funding at whatever level often isn't there. There is a good sense of volunteerism in the Strafford region, but it could be greater. There are many problems and projects to take on, including in the area of land use planning, but often there are too few hands to do the work required.

Why do you think regional planning is important/ why were you interested in being involved on the Strafford Regional Advisory Team?

I believe regional planning can play a vital role in helping people to think about the linkages between transportation, economic development, environmental protection, and other planning issues. It's not easy for NH towns to do this on their own, because of a lack of data, technology and/or manpower to do the analyses needed in order to understand the linkages. Also, many planning issues extend beyond town/city boundaries. Regional planning allows volunteers and staff working on these issues to see the bigger picture and hopefully develop solutions that will work for as many people as possible.

I'm especially pleased to have served on the Advisory Team. Getting to see up close the work SRPC planners have been doing on the Regional Master Plan has been fascinating, and heartening. As a result of their efforts, a tremendous amount of useful information will be available to municipalities, to do with as they see fit.

How do you hope people will use the regional master plan?

I hope the regional master plan will be poured over by believers as well as by skeptics, and that it will spark many spirited debates about the planning issues facing the Strafford region. I hope the plan will help towns and cities find solutions to their particular problems, by allowing them to devise unique solutions for their particular problems based on some really good information in the regional plan.

Outreach Strategy

Regional Outreach Strategy

Regional community outreach events will be used to engage local populations. Outreach will include participation in conferences, fairs, and established community events. Strategies to be used at outreach events include interviewing participants, as well as encouraging them to map out their ideas on the Local Solutions for the Strafford Region interactive display. This bulls-eye-like chart was designed to help participants identify what is important to them at a home, regional, and state level. After each event Strafford Regional Planning Commission staff will create a report describing what was learned and the areas that can be improved on in the future. The goal is to reach out to 1% of the population , or roughly 1400 individuals who live, work, or visit the Strafford Region.

Listening boxes will be used to collect community input. A list of locations was compiled for targeting the placement of listening boxes This system will include comment cards, and flyers explaining Granite State Future: Local Solutions for the Strafford Region effort attached to a collection box. Boxes will be located around the region allowing individuals to contribute their ideas. Examples of where these listening boxes will be placed include: town halls, libraries, coffee shops, community centers and other private establishments. Incentives for citizens to participate will occur in the form of raffle prizes from local vendors and businesses. Participants may decide to participate in the raffle by providing their name and phone number. Listening boxes will be rotated to different regional locations and the input collected will be entered onto the Granite State Future website. The data provided will also be analyzed and reported on by Strafford Regional Planning Commission staff.

Website

Strafford Regional Planning Commission plans to continue to utilize feedback gathered via A Granite State Future's statewide collaboration web page housed at www.granitestatefuture.org. Staff will also utilize the Granite State Future website to input data gathered via the regional listening boxes in order to share the community input from citizens concerning the Strafford Region.

Newsletter

The Strafford Regional Planning Commission has continued building our agency newsletter. This newsletter is a cost effective, easy way to create an open communication channel for a wide variety of people. Our newsletter informs readers about the latest happenings, news, events and achievements, and information that may not be readily available. It encourages readers to attend public meetings, become more aware of new policies and regulations, and take part in municipal matters. In the past year, we have expanded the distribution list, added more contacts, and created new templates to send out information. Strafford Regional Planning Commission will continue to use the Internet as a resource tool throughout this project. The newsletter often has hyperlinks at the end of each article, which directs readers to other websites with additional information. Readers have the opportunity to browse these directories available online. As Strafford Regional Planning Commission moves forward, we will be developing a more interactive media where users can share opinions and have their voices heard.

Facebook

Strafford Regional Planning Commission will utilize the organization's Facebook page in conjunction with the Granite State Future Facebook page to convey important information to subscribed members. Our page may be used to poll subscribers as well as keep them up to date on what is new with the Granite State Future project in relation to the Strafford Region. Granite State Future will maintain its' Facebook page, Granite State Future, to keep followers up to date about what is happening with the project in each of the different regions in NH.

Twitter

Strafford Regional Planning Commission will continue to utilize its current Twitter account @straffordrpc as both a communications tool for interactions with Granite State Future project partners and as an outreach outlet for Local Solutions for the Strafford Region news and upcoming events. Granite State Future, as a statewide entity, will also maintain its own Twitter account at @granitestatefut for announcements regarding the project.

Collaborative Statewide Outreach Strategy

Neighborhood Conversations recognize that some people are uncomfortable participating in public meetings. It establishes a mechanism to engage individuals at a more casual neighborhood location (i.e. local diners and coffee shops, PTA group meetings, local transfer stations, etc.). These conversations would provide further input concerning what citizens want to see improved and what they like about the Strafford Region. These conversations further hold importance as they allow a range of opinions to be heard and not just individuals who have a tendency to speak up on issues at public meetings find important.

NH Listens

In light of the statewide focus on engaging underserved and underrepresented populations in regional planning, the Carsey Institute of the University New Hampshire will work closely with University of New Hampshire Cooperative Extension to create a series of local and regional public dialogues that will give a total of 400-500 statewide participants an opportunity to express their views on issues related to livability, sustainability, and long-range planning. Specifically, the Carsey Institute's engagement initiative, New Hampshire Listens, will partner with UNH Cooperative Extension. NH Listens operates at both the local and state level to engage and facilitate conversations and dialogues surrounding complex and often polarizing issues. They will be working to develop a three-tiered Community Engagement Framework, implemented in chronological order as follows:

Communities of Interest

In each of the nine regional planning commission areas in New Hampshire, our partners will identify and engage specific interest groups made up of underserved populations. This will include but not be limited to the NH Minority Health Coalition, the Latin American Center (Manchester), NH ABLE (a self-advocacy group for people with disabilities), the Interfaith Refugee Resettlement Program (Concord) and International Institute of NH (Manchester), New Hampshire Legal Assistance (representing welfare rights organizations), resident-owned communities, New Hampshire's six community action programs, youth advocacy organizations across the state, and senior citizen centers. Our Partners will conduct two to three dialogue events in each of the nine regions with representatives from these constituencies (for a total of 27 focus groups). Partners will work with these constituencies on their home territory and design processes that allow for safe, confidential expression of views. Our focus in these dialogues will be on interests, how natural and built environments affect their social, economic, and cultural lives of these populations. Participants in the focus groups will be invited to send representatives to community-wide forums, as described later in this document. University of New Hampshire Cooperative Extension will be responsible for identifying and conducting these interviews and focus groups. Cooperative Extension staff will conduct meetings, focus groups and interviews from August 2012 through February of 2013. Results will be presented to Regional Planning Commissions and the Equity and Engagement Technical Advisory Statewide Committee from March 2013 through April 2013.

Communities of Place

UNH Cooperative Extension will identify 9 to 12 communities across New Hampshire, representing geographic and demographic diversity, to conduct public conversations on the question, "How can the places we live, work, and learn become sustainable, livable, and meaningful for ALL our residents?" Grounded in the NH Livability Principles and guided by NH Listens' core commitments to inclusive, civil, and safe dialogue, these community-based, facilitated dialogues will draw on the results of the Communities of Interest focus groups, create expanded opportunities for wider participation from both the "usual suspects" and underserved, underrepresented populations, and emphasize the particular nature of the place in which the conversations are occurring. Our partners will support the participation of members of the Communities of Interest focus groups through provision of transportation, child care, and other services necessary to offset financial and personal costs. UNH Cooperative Extension will be responsible for the Communities of Place, coordinating with NH Listens for facilitators and outreach. These public conversations will be carried out from March 2013 through May 2013. Results will be presented to RPC's and Equity and Engagement Technical Advisory Statewide Committee in the summer of 2013.

Regional Forums

The third stage of the Community Engagement Framework will entail four regional public forums, tentatively to take place in Lebanon, Laconia, Portsmouth, and Berlin. [Note that each of the regional forums may encompass two or three regional planning regions (i.e. consolidated regions).] Participants in the Regional Forums will include people from the Communities of Interest and Communities of Place dialogues; and they will be open to residents of our region.

The purposes of the Regional Forums will be to a) aggregate the recommendations that emerge from the Communities of Internet and Communities of Place dialogues; b) modify and expand those recommendations to reflect regional interests; and c) recruit members of Regional Advisory Team for each of the nine Regional Planning Commissions.

NH Listens will be responsible for the Regional Forums which will be scheduled for August through September 2013. Results will be presented to the Planning Commissions and the Equity and Engagement Technical Advisory Statewide Committee in October and November 2013.

Part II Public Outreach Report

This report was written and updated as Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) attended different community outreach events across the region. SRPC was committed to capturing the voices of as many residents in the Stafford Region as possible. The comments received were the basis for the visions for each section of the plan, and shaped much of the plan content. The following sections include: an overview of the outreach conducted by SRPC, what we heard, and a summary and results from each outreach event.

Commitment to Our Communities

For the purpose of the Regional Master Plan, as well as to gain an understanding of what the resident of the Strafford region view was important in their communities, an extensive outreach process was conducted. Citizens were engaged in a variety of outreach events, surveys, listening sessions, and interviews. As part of the Strafford Regional Planning Commission's mission is "to assure that the region is responsive to the needs of its residents through cooperation with the federal and state agencies and its member communities..." this outreach is a vital component of the Regional Master Plan update. From attending 27 events in the region, and reaching out to upwards of 1,300 participants, SRPC gained a sense of what individuals in the region find most important when planning for a shared future.

Outreach Process

SRPC attended 27 different outreach events across the region and received approximately 3,300 comments from over 1,343 participants. This was an important component of the Regional Master Plan process. Residents, workers, and visitors shared what they like about the Strafford Region and what they though could be improved. SRPC reviewed and analyzed comments and identified common themes and ideas that emerged repeatedly. Comments were then coded and tallied by theme. This information helped SRPC staff gain a sense of what was important to citizens in the region. Results of this outreach process are summarized in the Telling Our Story section of this document.

What We Heard

An analysis process was conducted using the comments received from SRPC's regional outreach events. Each of the 3000 comments received were reviewed, and the concepts addressed were sorted into 65 categories. The questions asked at the majority of outreach events concerned what participants like about the Strafford region, as well as areas that they believe need improvement. The categories were based off the comments themselves and include categorizations such as recreational opportunities, education on, access and proximity to recreation on and services, business and economy, rural environment, land conservation, affordable housing, and transportation, among others

Education

Education was the number one priority for improvement among regional respondents at SRPC outreach events. Citing inadequate funding for school systems, the need for improved educational programs, options for primary education, and more affordable secondary education, this topic was continually addressed by respondents.

Taxes

While many participants expressed satisfaction on with the lack of income and sales tax, others were vocal about high property taxes in the region. Conversely, some participants shared how they would not oppose an increase in taxes if money supported improvements in the region, such as an improved education on system.

Recreation

Participants requested more recreational opportunities in the region including the addition of bike lanes for major traffic routes, the extension and addition of trails in the region, and keeping land open for recreational uses.

Housing

Regional housing needs were addressed multiple times as well when participants considered necessary improvements in the region. Many cited the need for more affordable housing. Participants also expressed the need for public assisted housing through the Section 8 Housing Voucher system, as well as an

Interactive Outreach Display

The purpose of conducting outreach at various community events was to gain input to guide the regional master plan appendices.

Each comment was reviewed and analyzed. The data was compiled and then used to shape the vision statements and content of each of the Master Plan appendices.

The regional implementation strategies and projects outlined in this plan also reflect the comments that were received during the outreach process.

In general, the citizens sharing their opinions indicated that:

- What happens in the region is important to them
- Their voice is important in the planning process.

At multiple outreach events, individuals expressed appreciation that their opinions were being considered in SRPC's planning process. "What do you like about the Strafford Region?"

"What could be improved in the Strafford Region?"

9% Education

7% Recreational Opportunities 6% Public Transit Route Expansion 6% Taxes 5% Affordable Housing 5% Local Events/Activities 5% Jobs/Economy 4% Resources/Opportunities for Children 4% Small Government/Politics 3% Conservation Land increase in low-income housing units, sharing that there is often a long list for this type of housing. The parameters concerning housing development and where it should occur were also addressed. Many participants felt development should occur in already developed areas, instead of areas that are currently undeveloped or could be conservation land.

Transportation

Transportation on concerns included route and schedule expansion for regional transit. Expansion of current regional routes was requested, as well increased service on night and weekends. In terms of regional service, many participants mentioned COAST specifically. The need for inter-regional transportation options was also mentioned repeatedly.

Economic Development

The economy was addressed by multiple participants at varying outreach events. Many participants discussed the need for more local business to encourage growth in our communities' local economies. There were a fair number of individuals who wanted more commercial business. In addition, job creation and security was undeniably important to participants.

Local Events and Engagement

The need for more local events to encourage a sense of community was addressed at multiple outreach events. Individuals discussed the importance of community events such as fairs and farmers markets and the increased need for these types of events. Governmental concerns such as changes in funding and keeping local citizens involved, the need for more resources and programs for children in the region, and the importance and necessity for preservation of regional lands, were possible improvements discussed as well. Categories in 'Other' included a desire for: more residential development; support of agricultural efforts in the region; and improved road conditions.

Overview

The following section contains a written summary for each event attended as part of SRPC's outreach process for Local Solutions for the Strafford Region. The summaries are followed by pie-charts depicting the categories the comments received from participants fall into, and a record of all comments received at that event. The eight categories identified at the beginning of this process include*:

- Housing
- Economy
- Recreation/Environment
- Education
- Community
- Business/Economy
- Government
- Public Safety
- Transportation

*The comments were also reviewed individually and further sorted into one of 65 categories as explained above.

It is important to note that the outreach strategy utilized for the first couple of outreach events was slightly different than the one used for the majority of the process. For the first couple of events SRPC used an interactive display and asked participants to identify what was important on a home, region, and state level, marking these categories when reviewing comments. Beginning with the Rochester Area Senior Luncheon SRPC began to ask respondents what they like about living in the region, and what could be improved. Analysis of these comments led to SRPC staff identifying which categories were relevant.

For every outreach event up until the second Gerry's Food Pantry Turkey Donation Day in November 2013, this is how the outreach process was conducted, whether by asking the participant in person, or asking them to fill out a comment card with the same questions. At the second Gerry's Food Pantry Turkey Donation Day in November 2013 staff asked participants where they would like to see funding in their community.

SRPC also attended two town meeting events where staff prepared a PowerPoint that allowed polling on questions pulled and adapted from the NH Regional Planning Commissions: A Granite State Future 2013 Statewide Survey. Participants were given an opportunity to anonymously express their opinions concerning the future of the region. SRPC also attended two visioning sessions focused on the Moose Mountain Region, and their ideas for the future.

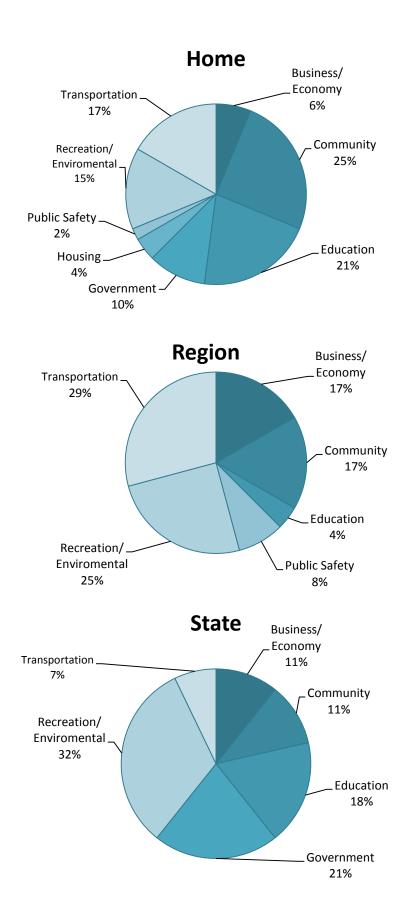

Newmarket Heritage Festival September 22, 2012 31 Participants

The Newmarket Heritage Festival took place on September 22, 2012. The Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) staff attended this event in order to gain a sense of what is important to citizens in their region.

At the event a booth was set up that included an interactive display so that participants could map out what is important to them in their region. The display required these participants to determine what was important on a home, regional, and state level. After talking to over 30 people, it was apparent that citizens had different ideas of what was important at the different levels identified by SRPC staff. On a home level, people found community and education to be most important. On a regional level, participants found recreation and environmental factors, as well as transportation to be most important. Lastly, on a state level, government and recreational and environmental factors were highlighted as most important.

When discussing community on a home level, participants expressed how they like local business, strong downtown communities, and also how community involvement could be improved by increased community events and getting citizens involved in the planning process. Education concerns include gaining support from the state for local education, as well as improving education in general, and offering affordable college options. Considering recreation and environmental factors, participants like the recreation opportunities offered in the Strafford Region, and expressed that the location of our region is the key to this. For transportation, concerns were focused on more bus service, and specifically the integration of COAST and Wildcat. Lastly, government concerns ranged from fixing our tax system to improving the economy through the creation of more jobs.

Dover Apple Harvest October 6, 2012 117 Participants

Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) attended the Apple Harvest Day in Dover, NH. The purpose of attending this local event was to gain input about what the citizens in the region like, and would like to see improved in their area. SRPC staff set up a booth at the festival and used an interactive display for people to map out what they think is important in their home area, region, and state. This setup made it so people could identify what is important on each of these three levels. Participants were given tiles with pictures representing one of eight different themes. These themes included Education, Transportation, Community, Recreation/Environmental, Health and Public Safety, Housing, Business/Economy, and the Government. They were then asked to identify their importance on each of the three levels.

The planners running the event also engaged participants in conversation recording what the participants like and would like to see improved in their area. Overall, recreation, community, and transportation were most important to the people who participated in this event.

Recreation and Environment comments included how participants like the location of the Strafford Region, the region's recreation, the natural resources, and also how more parks should be created. Transportation concerns included improving roads, increasing bus service and stops, and improving transportation for disabled individuals. In terms of community, participants liked the region, and that it is family centered, and also the preservation efforts such as the revitalization of the mills in different towns in the region.

2012 Seacoast Business Expo October 18, 2012 60 Participants

The SRPC was in attendance at the 2012 Seacoast Business Expo in mid-October. By attending this event the SRPC staff hoped to gain insight at to what professionals in the Strafford Regional deem important in their home area, region, and state.

When interviewing participants SRPC staff focused on the citizens on one level, i.e. what they like and think needed to be improved on a home/regional level. Overall, people found recreational and environmental factors, along with community, to be the most important

Ideas relating to recreation and environment included participants' enjoyment of the lakes, mountains, and ocean, as well as the natural resources, and beauty/aesthetics of the region. Transportation concerns were focused on the improvement of public transportation, traffic congestion, and transportation for those who are disabled. When it came to community factors, participants like the sense of community in the Strafford Region, as well as the location, and also emphasized that young people should be encouraged to stay in the area.

Local Government Center's 71st Annual Conference November 15, 2012 13 Participants

Recently SRPC staff attended the Local Government Center's 71st Annual Conference. Here SRPC set up an interactive display to allow participants to map what they think is important to NH at a home, region, and state level. SRPC staff also conversed with participants asking them what they like, and what they think needs to be improved in their home/region. The event was conducted so that individuals could provide input as to what they'd like to see improved, and also what they like about their state.

After talking to participants, it was apparent that community, recreation, and transportation were considered the most important. At this particular event only three areas were mentioned as being important to those interviewed..

When addressing community, participants liked our small communities in the Strafford Region. Also, participants expressed that we had a good mix of rural atmosphere and opportunity. Participants expressed positives ideas concerning recreation/environment including the array of recreational activities, and how they like the beauty of the State in general. Transportation concerns included improvement of traffic and safety in terms of road/exit work.

Gerry's Food Pantry Turkey Donation Day November 20, 2012 117 Participants

In order to further gather input for the first phase of the master plan process a community outreach event was conducted by the Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) at Gerry's Food Pantry in the Rochester Community center on November 20, 2012. This event took place during the 2012 Gerry's food pantry turkey donation, in which individuals could register to receive assistance for food supplies, intended for the Thanksgiving holiday. In order to gain input from these individuals a team from the SRPC staff conversed with people waiting in the line to receive their donations. The types of questions asked included what these individuals would like to see improved in their town or area, as well as what they liked about the area in which they lived. Individuals were very receptive to these questions and the SRPC received some substantial input concerning the improvement of Rochester specifically, as well as the region.

The three most common areas that these individuals believed needed improvement were transportation, the recreation/environment, and the community. When discussions about transportation arose, many people expressed concerns over littering, fixing the streets and surrounding areas in terms of potholes and sidewalks, improving bus routes in terms of increased service and stops, and fixing traffic problems. When discussing recreation and environment, the biggest focus was placed on affordable and safe activities for children. Many individuals mentioned the cost of sports to be excessively high, and also mentioned a lack of activities such as after school programs to keep children busy and out of trouble. A lot of concerns about the community related with the concern for the children. It was mentioned by multiple people that the Commons in Rochester should be fixed up so children can play there safely. More community activities, mostly in relation to children, were requested as well.

Rochester Area Senior Center January 23, 2013 35 Participants

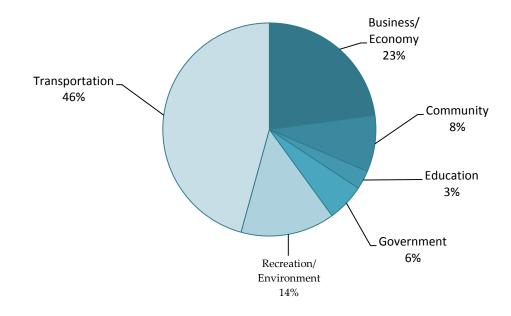

Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) attended a luncheon at the Rochester Area Senior Center on January 23, 2013. In order to maximize input, SRPC staff handed out copies of the comment cards to every person as they were arriving. During this process, SRPC staff explained that they were looking for input concerning participants' thoughts about the region. After the meal was served, and individuals had finished eating, SRPC staff briefly presented on the master plan process and again asked individuals to fill out the comment cards with their thoughts.

Participant input was sorted into two categories, likes and dislikes/need improvement. Overall, people were happy with the recreation and environment in our region. Particularly, people liked being close to the beach, mountains, and lakes. Also, people liked the recreational opportunities like trails for hiking. Considering what participants thought could be improved, transportation was a big issue. Many seniors wanted there to be a better public transportation system to take them to and from doctor's appointments and shopping centers. Also, the biggest factor, which was continually voiced, was that the senior parking be improved specifically at the Rochester Senior Center. Many expressed concern over having to park far away from the senior center and walk, which is especially hard for those with oxygen tanks and those who have a difficult time getting around.

St. Anthony's Luncheon January 25, 2013 16 Participants

On January 25, 2013 Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) attended a senior luncheon at St. Anthony's Church in Sanbornville.

SRPC staff arrived before the start of the event to set up. This included placing comment cards at each place setting. As the seniors came in SRPC staff briefly explained the use of the comment cards and how participants input would be appreciated. Along with handing out the cards, SRPC staff walked around and talked with participants, recording their likes and dislikes, as well as what they thought needed improvement in the Strafford Region.

After analyzing the data it is apparent that certain themes emerged. In terms of what participants like about the region, lots of comments mentioned the recreation and environment. Specifically, people liked living close to the lakes and mountains, snowmobiling, and other area recreation. Community was also highlighted as important. Many people liked the community in and around Wakefield. For improvements, most of the focus was on transportation. Many seniors expressed concern over better senior public transportation. While many of the seniors currently drive they were thinking towards the future and so transportation was a big concern. Participants also expressed concern about the government in terms of lowering taxes.

Seacoast Eat Local Winter Farmer's Market January 26, 2013 58 Participants

On January 26, 2013 Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) attended Seacoast Eat Local's Winter Famer's Market at Wentworth Greenhouses in Rollinsford. This was SRPC's eighth outreach event completed to gain community input for the master plan process. This project seeks to determine what citizens in each of the nine planning regions like and dislike about their region. From talking with close to people at this event, SRPC was able to gain important input from citizens in the Strafford Region.

Considering what participants like, the most common themes were community and recreation/environment. Participants like the walkability of cities like Dover and Portsmouth, community events like the Winter Farmer's Market, the safe communities, and the overall good community feel of the region. Recreation and environment likes included the location of our region to the mountains and ocean, the abundance of wild/conservation space, the parks and trails, and the overall availability of recreational opportunities.

Concerns about the region were focused on transportation, recreation/environment, community, and business/economy. Transportation concerns include improved transportation, improved safety for bike riders, and a better Senior transportation system in our region. Participants discussed the recreation and environment expressing the need for more outdoor recreation, and the importance of keeping land open for recreational use. Community concerns addressed participants asking for more community events, meeting places, and volunteers, as well as keeping decisions, i.e. planning decisions, at the local level. Lastly, business and economy concerns were focused on increasing jobs, encouraging shopping local, and the need for skilled jobs.

Greater Wakefield Resource Center Senior Luncheon February 7, 2013 15 Participants

On February 7, 2013 Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) attended an event at the Greater Wakefield Resource Center in Union on February 7th, 2013. This event was a Senior luncheon and allowed SRPC staff to talk with people who may not be comfortable being addressed in a more public setting. Our question to participants focused on what they like about the Strafford Region, as well as what they think could be improved. We heard from 15 individuals.

Overall, participants like the recreation/environment and the community in the region. Specifically, participants like the openness of the region, the seasons, the programs for Seniors, and the accessibility and easiness of getting around in the region. Areas participants believed could be improved on include recreation/environment, community, and transportation. Community and recreation/environment improvements include more activities for seniors, and more senior trips. Transportation concerns were focused on improving roads, the availability of more buses, and cleaner roadsides.

UNH Memorial Union Building Booth February 5-7, 2013 199 Participants

In order to gain input from the college student population in the Strafford Region, Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) was sponsored by NH Listens and the UNH Carsey Institute to set up a booth at the University of New Hampshire Memorial Union Building. SRPC staff heard from close to 200 students.

In terms of what students like, the majority like the recreation and environment in our region, as well as the community. When addressing the recreation and environment, students expressed how they like the scenery of the region, its' proximity to cities like Boston, but also its location in relation to the mountains, lakes, beaches, and forests. Participants also enjoy recreational opportunities in the area like skiing, as well parks, and the openness and natural beauty of the state. Community was the second highest among the themes students regarded as important in the region. Many students like the sense of community in Durham, and the other close knit communities in the region. Students find UNH to have a good atmosphere with cultural diversity and a good sense of community. Participants particularly addressed Durham's downtown and how the local shops create a better sense of community

Popular themes concerning what students think could be improved, or aspects of the region they dislike are transportation, business/economy, recreation/environment, and community. Transportation concerns include improvement of public transportation for increased regional accessibility for students, increased student parking, bus routes that expand to areas outside the region (i.e. NYC, Manchester, Concord, and local beaches), better snow removal on campus, and more bus service and routes. Addressing business/economy, students request more small and local business, as well as more stores and restaurants in general. There were complaints concerning the types of stores in downtown Durham, and how there needs to be a greater variety of store types as well as more restaurants. A desire for more restaurants, and more venues for music and arts were expressed as well.

COAST Bus Comment Boxes March 18-April 16, 2013 55 Participants

After placing listening boxes all over the region in summer 2012 and not receiving the level of input Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) hoped to gain, updates were made in order to make this data collection strategy more successful. In order to ensure a higher response rate improvements were made to the comment cards and SRPC staff looked into ways they could create incentive to encourage participants to share their thoughts. The new comment card included a map of the region for participants to reference, which would be useful in helping them answer the questions, "What do you like most about this region? Why?" and "What do you like least about this region? Why and/or how could be improved?"

For incentives, gift cards were donated from Hannaford and the Portsmouth Brewery. With the new comment cards, and the incentives, SRPC decided to team up with COAST to place listening boxes on different COAST bus routes. An SRPC staff member rode the COAST bus after the boxes were first introduced in order to spread the word about the master plan process and why we would like participants' input. After having the boxes on the buses for between two and three weeks, SRPC received over 50 responses.

Many comments related specifically with COAST buses including a number of individuals who like COAST and use their services regularly, as well as those who would like to see Sunday service, along with route and schedule expansion. Participants like the recreation in our region, and were also expressive of the friendly community, and the feeling of safety where they live. While participants like the recreation in the region, they also though there could be improvements. Increasing recreation opportunities was a topic that came up a significant amount of time. Another big concern was affordable housing in the region, as well as an increase in available jobs.

Seacoast Eat Local Winter Farmer's Market #2 March 23, 2013 27 Participants

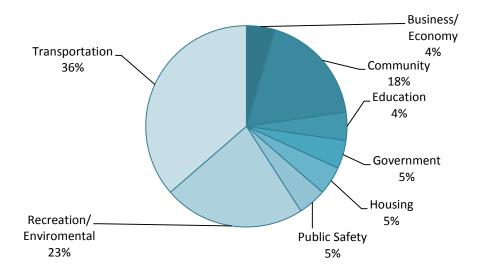

On Saturday March 23, 2013, SRPC attended the Seacoast Eat Local Winter Farmer's Market for the second time. After receiving significant input on January 26th, SRPC staff thought it would be a good venue to conduct outreach at again. SRPC addressed participants by asking them about their future vision for the region in terms of what they like about the region, and which areas they think need improvement. SRPC heard from 27 participants on topics ranging from agriculture and farming, to education and the government

In expressing what characteristics of the region they enjoy, citizens highlighted recreation and environment as one of the factors they liked most. Participants discussed elements such as being close to Boston, as well as the mountains and ocean, the open landscape of the region, the availability of recreational opportunities, and presence of conservation land as key in the likability factor of the Strafford Region. Participants also enjoy the community. Many participants felt that there is a strong sense of community in our region.

While it is important to understand what makes our region likable, it is equally beneficial for SRPC to understand what can be improved to make the region even more likable. Participants expressed concerns with transportation, recreation and environment, and community. Transportation concerns include the need for a regional public transportation system, better transportation in general, a better bike trail system, improved roads, a return of trains for commuting, completing the Sarah Long Bridge, better senior transportation, and less traffic. Participants think the community could be improved by keeping our town's smaller, improving community development through downtown revitalization, more local community farming, and better community organizations to allow for farming. Recreation and Environment concerns include more habitat conservation, preventing fluoridation of municipal waters, more open land, improving rail to trail

Great Bay Half Marathon April 6, 2013 59 Participants

On Saturday April 6th Strafford Regional Planning Commission attended the sign-ups for the Great Bay Half Marathon. The goal in attending was to understand participants' visions for the future of the Strafford Region. SRPC staff talked with 59 individuals including racers and their friends and families.

Comments were sorted into characteristics of the region that participants liked, and disliked or thought needed improvement. Regional themes that participants favor include recreation/environment, and community. Citizens highlighted elements of the community that they liked including a friendly atmosphere, good community events such as farmer's markets, small town atmosphere, the townie feel, and local hospitality. Recreation and environment characteristics that participants enjoy include open space, being close to the seacoast, mountains, woods, and beaches, access to recreational opportunities such as bike trails and walking pathways, preservation of natural areas, and parks

The main characteristics of the region that participants dislike, or thought could be improved include transportation, recreation and environment, and community. Transportation concerns include more public transportation, more efficient transportation, less potholes, having a train stop in Newmarket, widening roads for running and biking, improvement of sidewalks, more sidewalks, more street signs, more parking, better transportation between Newmarket and Portsmouth, and lower tolls. Recreation and environment concerns include more running/cycling trails, more parks, a private town swimming area, more dog-friendly areas, more protected farms, forest, and shoreline. In terms of community, individuals believe that towns should be kept small, there is a need for more local and art events, more cultural diversity is needed, our communities need to be cleaner, a new school would benefit the community of Newmarket, there should more of a focus on eating local, and more events should be held to connect UNH with its' surrounding towns.

McConnell Center Blood Drive May 2, 2013 37 Participants

On Thursday May 2, 2013 Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) attended the McConnell Center Blood Drive in Dover. This was SRPC's fourteenth outreach event for master plan process, which is focused on planning for the future of each region in NH, as well as the state overall. After talking with 37 people at the blood drive, it was apparent that participants had very specific thoughts about what they consider as vital to the region.

In terms of what people liked, individuals found community to be most important for the successful future of our region. Participants shared that they like the sense of community, and the friendliness of people in the region, as well as the feeling of safety that comes along with a tight k nit community. Citizens also like Recreation/Environment and believe it is important to the essence of region. It was mentioned that there are lots of recreational opportunities in the area, and that our region has great access to the lakes, mountains, and forests, as well as Boston and Portland. Business and Economy was the next most important quality participants highlighted in the region citing small local business that create a thriving region.

In order to improve the region for the future, individuals thought that transportation could be improved. Comments included having more transportation out of Durham, having more frequent public transportation, and encouraging biking and walking alternatives to automobile travel. Participants also think education needs to be improved. Individuals mentioned a return to the traditional education system, more affordable education, and an increase in funding for education. Individuals also thought that government could use improvements in terms of redirecting funding to education, improving county and city politics, and other government improvements in general. Overall, SRPC received great input from individuals at the McConnell Center in Dover.

SAU Outreach May 31-June 10, 2013 38 Participants

On April 30th Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) staff began to conduct outreach with the SAU districts in Northwood, Nottingham, New Durham and Strafford to gain input for the visioning process currently underway for a new Master Plan for the Strafford Region. SRPC staff delivered listening boxes (pictured above) to the New Durham School, the Strafford School, the Northwood School, Coe Brown Academy, and the Nottingham School. Listening boxes were dropped off along with comment cards and a letters explaining the purpose of gaining input, and what would be done with the thoughts faculty and staff shared. Comment cards and letters were distributed in the mailboxes of staff, and employees were instructed to return the cards to the boxes in the front office once they had filled them out.

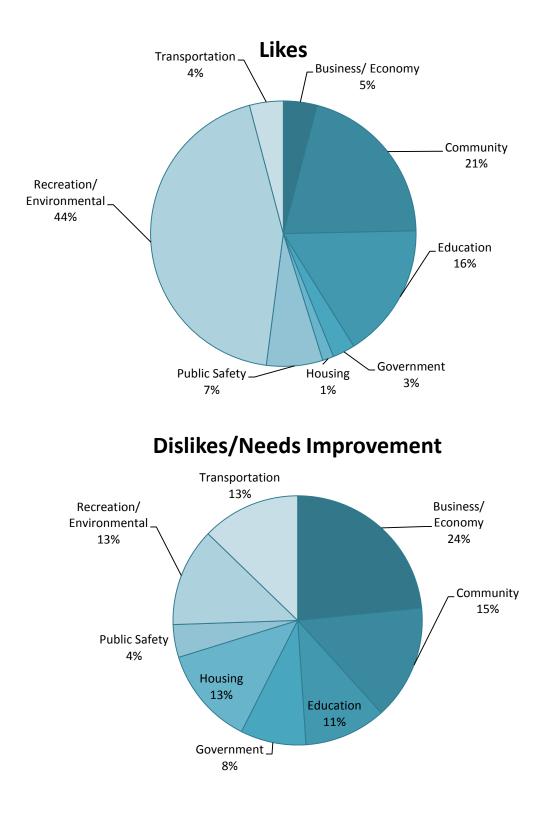

The boxes were left at the schools for a period of two weeks. While SRPC received lengthy and substantial comments from individuals, only thirteen comment cards were filled out over all. SRPC staff repeated this process again with several other schools in the region including Valley View and Henry Wilson in Farmington, Barrington Elementary, Oyster River High School and Middle School, and the Moharimet School in Madbury. The second round was more successful with 25 responses collected.

From the input received individuals found recreation and environment, community, and education to be most important. Participants like the amount of green space available in our region, the variety of recreation choices, access to the coast, city, mountains, and lakes, the natural beauty overall, as well as the development of trails and recreation opportunities for children. Considering what individuals like about community, they expressed that our community is important to the region, that people are friendly in our region, and that there is an abundance of community resources available. The fact that we have rural communities was mentioned as an important factor to our region as well. As far as educations, individuals think of education as a huge asset to our region including all levels of schooling.

Considering ways in which the region could be improved, individuals think the areas of business/economy, community, transportation and recreation/environment could use the most improvement. Business/economy concerns included the need for more small business, needing more business to improve the tax base, and more employment in the region. When addressing community, individuals feel as if community connections with public safety officials could be stronger, and saw a need for mental health services for children. Transportation concerns included the need to expand transportation options to all parts of our region, improved trails and sidewalks for alternative travel (i.e. bikes, walking), and more readily available transportation in general. Individuals shared their thoughts on recreation and environment including the need for more recreational activities, more public access to lakes, more outdoor events, and more activities for children.

Overall, the process was successful in helping SRPC staff conduct outreach in towns that had not yet been reached directly in the outreach process.

Armed Forces Day May 18, 2013 16 Participants

On May 18, 2013 Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) attended Armed Forces Day at the Lilac City Mall in Rochester. This was SRPC's 16th outreach event attended in order to collect qualitative data that will aid in the process of rewriting the Regional Master Plan.

At Saturday's event, SRPC heard from 16 individuals. Participants value recreation and environment, community, business/economy, and public safety most. Specific comments about recreation and environment included the abundance of activities in the area, the aesthetics of the region, the proximity to the Coast and mountains. For business/economy, participants value the small town feel but enjoy the abundance of services offered despite town's rural settings. Community values that individuals shared included the sense of community in the area. Participants also shared that they like the public safety in the area citing the well-trained police and fire staff in our region.

It is also important to address improvements that could be made in the region. Participants believe that transportation, business and economy, and government were most in need of improvement. Transportation concerns included the need for better transportation to Manchester, more public transportation from East Rochester to Gonic, and more veteran transportation services. Individuals believe that our business/economy needs to be improved by creating more jobs, and by encouraging more business in the region. Individuals' thoughts on the government include the opinions that taxes are too high, that there is too much government regulation, that tax spending needs to be redirected, and that military benefits are ensured.

As part of our continuing outreach efforts for the master plan process SRPC attended a blood drive at St. Mary's Church in Newmarket on June 7th 2013. This outreach was geared at understanding individuals opinion of the Strafford Region, what they like, and what could be improved. This input is to be used by SRPC in their process of writing their Regional Master Plan. Over 25 individuals took time to fill out a comment card, sharing their thoughts about the Strafford Region.

Participants LIKE the region because:

"It's a close-knit community where you can walk around and always see people you recognize." "It's a pretty quiet area and because of the great people and law enforcement I've always felt safe"

"The Seacoast is a great area for raising a family. Love the history of the area."

"Good place for business, work, and competitive wages"

"NH Seacoast is such a naturally beautiful place to live, with fantastic opportunities in education and recreation."

Individuals also expressed that while they love the region, some IMPROVEMENTS could be made.

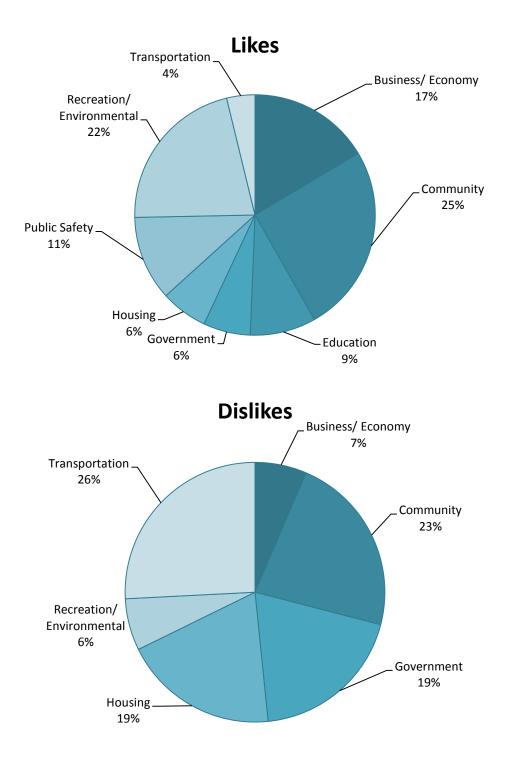

Participants answered the question "How could the areas you like least about the region be improved?" as follows:

"Need for more affordable housing"

- "More bike trails, rails, and less traffic"
- "Better ways to engage students in school i.e. less tests, more projects, etc."

"More outdoor events, & more privately owned businesses(small, family type)" "Wish there were more walking/biking paths or trails (or even sidewalks in some towns) to make getting around without the use of a motorized vehicle more feasible."

The top three likes were community, recreation/environment, and business/economy. For area that could be improved upon in the region, the top three were transportation, community, and housing and government. The responses from those individuals waiting to give blood at this great Red Cross event are appreciated and will fuel the existing condition and recommendations for the future in the Strafford Region Master Plan.

Middleton Yard Sale June 22, 2013 30 Participants

On Saturday June 22, 2013 SRPC staff attended the Middleton Yard and Craft Sale in an effort to talk with citizens about their vision for the future of Middleton, the Strafford Region, and the state. The event was comprised of booths selling items from handmade pottery and baked goods to the typical array of yard sale items. There was a strong sense of community among sellers and browsers. Thirty participants shared their thoughts about what makes the Strafford Region a place they are proud to call home, and also what could make it even better.

As a whole, participants expressed that recreation and environment, community, and public safety were important elements concerning what they like about living in the Strafford Region. A consolidated list of the results can be found below:

Community

Enjoys the peace and quiet Like the sense of community and privacy. Friendly communities and people Close-knit communities

Recreation & Environment

Enjoys outdoor activities Open space

Public Safety Our police, fire, and EMTs are hard working Feel safe Participants also expressed some concerns over areas they believed could use improvements. The top areas participants identified as needing improvement included: business/economy, education, and government. Their concerns were as follows:

Business/Economy

Overall economic improvements Increased business in rural areas More businesses and jobs in Middleton

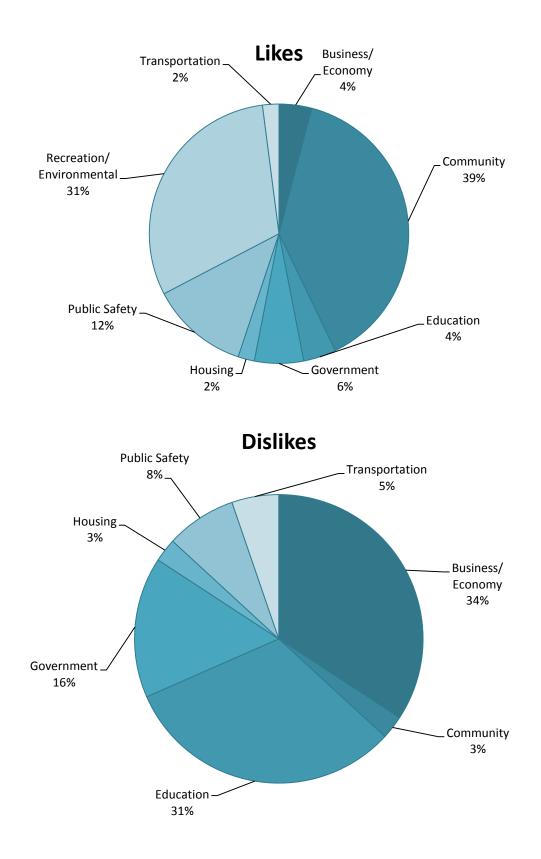

Education

More funding for education Middleton should change school districts; better education for less money Improved school system

Government

Need to cut expenditures/lower the taxes; taxes too high

Overall, the event was very successful and the opinions shared will be helpful to SRPC staff when writing the regional Master Plan.

On July 27, 2013 Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) was able to attend Northwood's Bean Hole Bash Event. This event, which began in the mid-1970s and was brought back after a 16-year hiatus, is centered on bringing the community together for good old baked beans, family activities, and town camaraderie. This year's event featured multiple booths of crafters and community organizations, along with activities for all ages.

Strafford Regional Planning Commission attended in order to ask individuals what makes them proud to call Northwood and the region home, as well as what could make it even better. Individuals had many positive comments concerning recreation opportunities. These included access to the mountains, lakes, and forests allowing for a plethora of recreational activities. In addition, many community members mentioned the positive educating force that is Coe Brown. Overall, participants liked Northwood and its' rural setting and country feel.

Potential improvements that participants mentioned included more funding and enhancements to the elementary school, and more after school programs for children. Individuals also identified a need for more jobs and small businesses in the region. Another concern relevant to the community events taking place was that citizens would like to see more community events and community involvement in general.

The input received from participants will be used to help SRPC identify what residents of the Strafford Region like and what can be improved, for the Strafford Region to have a successful future. This information will be presented as part of the Strafford Regional Master Plan.

July 29, 2013 27 Participants

On July 29, 2013 Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) attended their third blood drive event at the Loyal Order of the Moose in Dover, NH. Here SRPC staff spoke with 27 individuals asking their vision for the Strafford Region in terms of what they like and therefore should be continued, and what could be improved. Comments cards were utilized and handed out while individuals waited to donate blood. This outreach is conducted in an effort to understand the needs and wants of residents in the Strafford Region for the purpose of writing a new Regional Master Plan.

From analyzing the data, it is clear that certain themes arose among the participant comments. Individuals liked aspects of recreation /environment, community, and transportation most.

What individuals liked included:

Recreation/Environment Loves the recreation and scenery People are respectful of the environment Easy access to many activities Likes the public pool and recreation trails

Community

Likes the strong sense of community Very social and friendly environment People take an interest in community Strong community involvement Transportation Buses are cheap and efficient

Top concerns included the following comment about transportation, government, and housing:

Transportation Increased frequency of COAST (Sat and Sun) Need for more public transportation Improved train service to Boston

Government

Listen to the public more, public input is asked for but not usually followed Taxes are too high

Housing Lower rental costs, more low-income housing

Overall, the event was successful and the opinions shared will be helpful to SRPC staff when writing the Regional Master Plan.

Dover Apple Harvest Day #2 October 5, 2013 47 Participants

Fall is in the air, and with it all the fun activities that come with this time of year. Apple picking, carving pumpkins, hot cider, and not to forget, NH's fairs and festivals, are all crowd favorites during the autumn season.

Dover Apple Harvest Day, a local favorite, was held this year on October 5th. Combining some of the best elements of fall, the 29th annual Apple Harvest day drew over 50,000 individuals to Dover's downtown center. Strafford Regional Planning Commission was able to attend for the second year in a row, enjoying the chance to talk with locals, and visitors alike.

SRPC set up their big white tent, bulls-eye theme banner, and some sweet incentives, ready to engage with those passing by. In attending, SRPC staff hoped to gain a better understanding of what individuals viewed as important regional themes when considering a vision for the Strafford Region. In particular SRPC was looking to understand what participants loved, as well as what they believed could be improved.

Judging from the 47 individual's responses; individuals LOVE the Strafford Region because of:

The Community

- Love the local community
- Downtown Dover has a lot to offer
- Great activities for children
- Like the size of the community
- Safe communities

The Recreation/Environment

- Like the walkability in downtown Dover
- Like the access to recreation opportunities, while also being close to the City

Participants thought the following could be improved:

Transportation

- Dislike the heavy traffic
- Local roads needs to be repaired
- Need to improve the public bus system by adding more stops, and running more frequently
- Road maintenance is an issue, Mast Rd. in Dover specifically
- Dislike parking meters in Dover

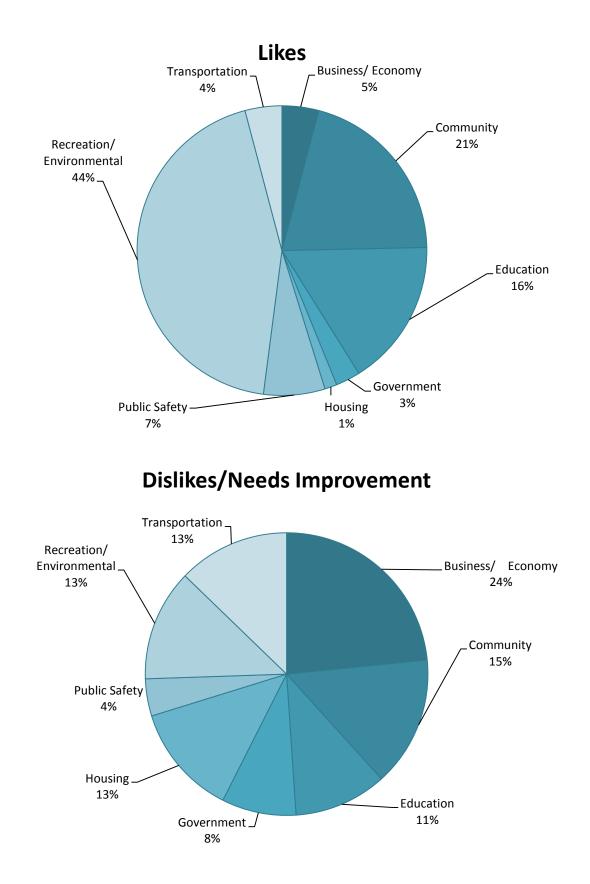

The Recreation/Environment

- More attractions in the area
- Want to see more recycling
- Existing community trails should be more clearly marked and symbolized
- Communities and corporations need to be more accepting of climate change data and trends
- Would like to see the installation of public exercise stations in parks

Education

- There needs to be a better relationship between the school and the city council
- Feel as if the school system in Dover is too big
- Lack of funding for schools is a big problem
- Would be willing to pay more in taxes for increased educational funding

SRPC enjoyed the opportunity to reach out to those both living in and visiting the Strafford Region. In addition, SRPC values the responses that were heard.

Gerry's Food Pantry Turkey Donation Day #2 November 26, 2013 105 Participants

November 26th marked the second year Strafford Regional Planning Commission attended Gerry's Food Pantry Turkey Donation Day at the Rochester Community Center. This event is held to assist individuals by providing food to prepare for Thanksgiving. This is a great community event that supports those in need in the greater Rochester area. Individuals were glad to share their opinions on areas for improvement in the region.

SRPC staff conducted their questioning in the same manner as always, only changing the way they asked the question to assess people thoughts on the region. At all other events, SRPC staff asked individuals what the like about living in the Strafford Region and what could be improved. At this event, staff instead asked the question "What should your community spend their funding on", this question was also preceded on occasion with saying "if your community had unlimited funding, where should they spend it?" SRPC was able to talk with 105 individuals, and got some great insight into where communities in the region should spend their funding, according to the people.

Many thought that their community's funding should be focused on community assistance. Participants mentioned keeping shelters open around the clock, making it less difficult to take advantage of local food pantries. Education was the second biggest area that individuals believed their community should spend their funding on. Road maintenance and public safety closely followed concerns for community assistance and education.

SRPC was glad to be able to attend this event for the second year, and appreciates all the input received.

Brookfield Town Coffee December 7, 2013 9 Participants

Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) staff attended Brookfield's Town Coffee event on December 7, 2013. The purpose of this outreach event was for SRPC to present on the responsibilities of the organization, as well as find out what is important to the residents of Brookfield when considering future planning efforts in the region.

SRPC chose to assess the opinions of participants using software called Turning Point Technology. This software allowed individuals to vote on answers to multiple choice questions via clickers that were handed out to each participant. There were nine individuals that participated and expressed their input on questions concerning a range of topics. Questions addressed what types of service individuals want in or near town, opinions of housing and rent prices, opinions of transportation services, areas where government funding should be focused and whether taxes should play a role, and where further development should occur in the town of Brookfield, as well as the region.

For transportation, individuals were concerned with funding focused on maintaining roads, highways and bridges. A large amount of participants were against in-town development and discouraged this. When discussing broadband, every participant said that they have service. While they did note that providers were limited, they were not really interested in faster speeds or government supported broadband infrastructure.

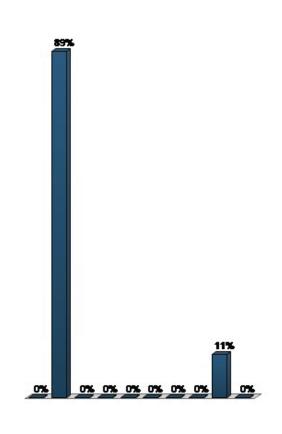

Participants were also concerned with agriculture and believe that is should be encouraged, as well as cited farms, farm stands, and forestry as important. When addressing housing, more than half of respondents believed housing for purchase was only somewhat affordable, while rentals were considered very affordable by 37.5 % of individuals.

This event was a great chance for SRPC to share with the residents of Brookfield what we do as a planning commission, as well as gain input from individuals for use in the Regional Master Plan update. These results, as well as the rest of the outreach results SRPC has gathered from their outreach will be used to guide the appendices for the Regional Master Plan.

Milton Joint Meeting April 28, 2014 16 Participants

As part of our outreach efforts for the Regional Master Plan, SRPC attended a public meeting on April 28, 2014 for the purpose of gathering resident's input concerning their town and the region. We were welcomed by the Town Administrator, Elizabeth Dionne, the Board of Selectman, sixteen participating residents, and a few others who chose to observe the outreach process. It is important to note that there are 4,598 individuals in Milton and so those in attendance are not a representative sample of the larger community. We were however able to gather valid input from those who chose to participate.

As an introduction SRPC Executive Director, Cynthia Copeland, AICP, gave a brief overview of the function of our organization, and the process we are currently going through to update our Regional Master Plan. Community Outreach Specialist, Shayna Sylvia, spoke to the previous outreach efforts conducted around the region, and the results heard thus far. Results from the survey conducted on behalf of the nine regional planning commissions by the UNH survey center were also shared.

Following this introduction, an explanation was given concerning the clickers that were handed out to participants for the interactive portion of the meeting. These clickers allowed participants to vote on questions addressing a variety of topics such as housing, environment, transportation, energy, and other topics that were based of the UNH Survey. There were also questions included that assessed feelings toward the North Bus Service, conservation in the town, as well as the proposed economic development at Exits 17 and 18 in Milton.

Based on the technology used for participants to express their answers, an automatic report was generated after each question, allowing participants to see the percentage of individuals voting for each multiple choice options. For the questions based on the UNH survey, we were able to show respondents the regional responses, after showing Milton residents their own responses.

Results:

The results of the survey questions that were answered with the clickers are as follows:

General Comments from Participants

- How do the tax rates weigh in when encouraging certain types of housing in the region, this plays a part, but is not addressed in the survey.
- Cost of housing can range from $50,000 to 200,000 so gauging a sense of affordability is difficult as there is no way to tease out responses (Relates to question 8)
- With the question concerning the village center, if should be addressed whether proposed economic development would increase, expand or _____existing downtown development (Relates to question 27)
- General concerns with the outreach event
 - o Demographic of attendees is not representative of Milton
 - Questions concerning affordability of rental housing skewed as most attendees are homeowners
 - Expressed that the makeup and size of the sample should be clearly defined in reporting results for the outreach event
 - As long as the participant size is reported, then comfortable with the reporting of these results.
- Looking at Routes 75 and 125 is related to the Master Plan. The planning board is looking to update the Master Plan. The outreach's purpose was to bring consciousness to the process of updating the master plan in an effort to educate the public and the Town boards.
 - It was discussed that as a data resource Census data can provide insightful information about Milton
 - Zeitgeist-polling discussion provides a sense of major issues that are pulling the town/region forward, and the importance of defining these issues.
- Question asked about the statewide resource of the Master Plans from all nine RPCs, and if it would be a resource by decision makers
 - It was explained that the document is a data resource for decision makers to get a picture of what is going on in their town/city/region. The nine rpcs's plans will be compiled by OEP into state plan, to use on a statewide basis. SRPC has worked to keep the process focused on a bottoms up approach.

Summarized Notes from Moose Mountain Regional Tourism Event Tumbledown Café, Sanbornville, NH October 23rd, 2014

Below is an abbreviated list of topics that were discussed at the October 23rd meeting:

- ... The establishment of a formal committee that will continue to work on the tourism initiative
 - Originally it was discussed that Moose Mountain Regional Greenways (MMRG) may be a viable option as an existing entity. Cynthia Wyatt provided some context that MMRG would not be able to take the lead on this due to conflicts within their mission statement, as well as their role as a land trust; they are interested in being an active participate throughout the process.
 - A decision was made to form a new entity called the "Moose Mountain Regional Alliance"
 - 14 members signed up to participate
- ... The regional purpose and goal of this newly formed organization was discussed
 - Purpose:
 - A local entity tasked with providing assistance to residents, local businesses, and decision-makers by promoting and marketing the wide-range of community assets in the Moose Mountain Region, which include scenic, historic, agricultural, recreational, and cultural resources.
 - o Goal:
 - Promote and increase public awareness of local resources in order to take advantage of potential regional economic opportunities
- ... Strafford Regional Planning Commission (SRPC) and UNH Cooperative Extension could potentially be partners in moving some actions forward by providing technical assistance
 - While the Alliance will eventually need to move forward on their own, SRPC can commit some time and resources in the early stages of development
- ... Participants at the workshop brainstormed short-term, intermediate, and long-term actions for the Alliance to consider
 - A list of those actions can be found on the next page
